Exhibitor Information

This conference focuses on racial identity development (black, white, and other people of color), ethnic identity development (African American, European American, Latino and other ethnic groups), and gender and sexual orientation, from infancy through adult maturity. An understanding of this development is necessary to understand the dynamics of multi-ethnic and multi-racial groups in the United States. The conference embraces an anti-oppressive and multicultural perspective.

EXHIBIT SPACE

- A covered 6 foot table and chair.
- Opportunity to share information about your products and services to educators of all levels, professional and school counselors, psychologists, diversity workers, women studies, volunteer service providers, social workers, and anyone interested in diversity and cross-cultural issues.
- Opportunity to sell merchandise if desired.
- Beverage break, and lunch.

If you would like to participate, return the exhibitor registration form as soon as possible. We will include a list of sponsors and exhibitors in each participant packet, and a copy of our certified list of participants will be available to you. Please return the form as soon as possible reserving your space.
